orm of advertising, and between the Inspector and the contractor they had a nice little bill of $20,000.
Alderman Thanass (Twelfth ward) understood this had seen given out by the City Inspector, who had advertised to and it was given to Mr. Cummings as the lowest bidder.
Alderman DENNAN had no objection to its being refered back, but after the attack made by the gentleman of the Mineteenth he—

the on the Almshouse, and the message of the Gorernors.

The motion to take up being carried, the reader preceeded with the Governors' communication requesting the Common Council to apply to the Legislature for power to raise a loan of $75,000, and to fund same, and the report recommending such application.

Alderman IDENMAN moved to amend by substituting that they request to raise the amount, and add it to the tax bill of the present year.

Alderman STURINVAN—That is, to strike out the loan, and add it to the tax bill. I have no objection to that.
(He nevertheless voted against the amendment)

Alderman BARR would vote in favor of the amendment, it would not delay the report of the committee.

Amender—No, it can't do that.

The amendment was then put and lost.

Alderman BRISLEY moved that it be laid on the table, and explained his reason for doing so, was, that he did
of think there was a sufficient majority to pass it.

The motion to lay on the table was then put and lost.

On the motion that the resolution be adopted being ut, there appeared eight ayes and five noes; and Mr.

Alzernian STURINSVANT—Utility to know why, as he nderstood a majority had voted in favor.

PRESIDENT—The Clerk supposes there is not a constitunoun majority.

Alderman STURINSVANT—I did not know it was for the Alderman STURING AS A point. I mought the President's prerogative.

The President's prerogative.

The President said in his opinion it was lost.

Alderman STURING ANT, reading from the charter, cos. Alderman STURING ANT, reading from the charter, cos. Anderman STURING ANT, reading from the challenge as required a majority of the members elected, but only of such as were present. Though he knew it was absurd with such a majority, he would appeal from the decision of the Chair for the purpose of putting his observed and the chair for the purpose of putting his observed and the chair for the purpose of putting his observed with the chair for the purpose of putting his observed with the chair.

elsion of the Chair for the purpose of putting his obstion on record.

Alden man PECK would sustain the Chair. The absurdity eight members representing the Common Council at blany was argument enough for him.

Alderman STURTIVANT admired his consistency, who ould vote away millions with a bare majority, but could to throok the Common Council being represented in an acon of this kind.

The vote was taken, and the Chair sustained by a dissen of ten to two.

Alderman Bark then moved a reconsideration of the toe on the resolution, which being carried, he moved that the resolution be adopted.

Alderman STURTIVANT would like to know what that teant.

therman Bark (Sixth ward) thought if the gentleman derred he might tell what it meant; but he was too p and hasty this evening—for which reason he had d fault with the aventable clerk of that Board, in a ser which was extremely improper and total y un-d for.

manner which was extremely improper and totally uncalled for.

Alderman STURTRYANT replied very indignantly. No member of the board entertained a higher respect for that gentleman, and he did not thank the gentleman of the Sixth for his lecture, since he knew how to respect the years and high standing of their worthy clerk without any such observation. In saying it was the perogative of the President, he meant no disrespect. Justice to "Uncle David" required this declaration.

Alderman Bark—That is not all that was said, and it was the emphasis that was most offensive; besides which the gentleman knows that to that clerk, who had grown grey in the service, all Presidents for years had been accustomed to appeal on points of parliamentary usage.

The resolution was finally laid on the table, and the Board adjourned to the first Monday in April.

THE MURDER IN PHILADELPHIA.—The excitement created by the atrocious murder of two inoffensive females in the district of Southwark, has somewhat subsided since the fearful mystery has been solved by the evidence of young Arthur Spring. The trial will take place at an early day next week, and there is but little doubt that speedy justice will be meted out to the offender. There have been no very recent developments touching the commission of the crime, although much has been elicited concerning the previous character of the accused. It has been erime, although much has been elicited concerning the previous character of the accused. It has been discovered that his career has been marked with erime as far back as it can be traced, and the evidence before the Grand Jury proves him to have been an ingrate of the deepest dye. An officer has been dispatched to Washington to learn something concerning the conduct of young Arthur Spring while in that city. His character will probably be attacked upon the trial.—Philad. Bulletin, March 17.

STRIKE AMONG THE CAULKERS AT EAST BOS-TON.—We learn that all the caulkers in the ship yards at East Boston, at work upon new work, struck for an advance in wages on Monday, from $2.25 to $2.50 per day.
